Press Release

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

December 9, 2016

Truckstop.com Bringing 60 Jobs to Fox River Grove

FOX RIVER GROVE—Beginning the week of December 26th, the Village of Fox River Grove will be home to offices for the online freight management company Truckstop.com. Founded in Idaho in 1995 as the first online freight-matching marketplace, Truckstop.com also provides load planning, transportation management, telematics, route optimization, real-time rates, powerful negotiation tools, and other logistics solutions. Once the new location is open, the company will have about 230 total employees in 3 states.

The new Fox River Grove office will be technology-based, with 60 employees focused on software development, software quality assurance and testing, project and program management. The office will have room for expansion as well, with the ability to house up to 100 employees. The company is currently seeking new employees for the Fox River Grove office, including software developers, database administrators, and an Information Security Engineer. Interested parties can apply by clicking the View Job Openings button on the homepage at Truckstop.com.

“Fox River Grove is thrilled to welcome Truckstop.com to the Village” stated Village President Robert J. Nunamaker. “This is a great addition to our business community, and we look forward to being partners for years to come.”
